WHAT IT IS

Every volunteer, who gives their time, and every person they reach, has a story

Since 2009, the work of the Maldivian Red Crescent (MRC) has been carried by its volunteers, members and the communities it serves across the country. Much of what happens in our Units, during responses, trainings and everyday services or events, is lived first hand by them.

Our 'My Red Crescent Story' is an open invitation to share your experience with us. Whether you volunteered at a response, learned first aid OR received support from MRC or worked alongside us as a partner, your story is part of ours.

Stories help us recognise the people behind our Programmes and Services, bring the voices of our communities into our work, and inspire others to join the humanitarian spirit of the Red Cross Red Crescent Movement.

Share your own experience, or the story of someone whose service has made a difference to you or your community. Choose whichever format is easiest for you, or combine them.

A written story

A few lines or paragraphs in your own words, about you or about a volunteer, member or staff member you know.

Story with photos

Pair your story with photos from the moment you describe, so others can see it the way you did.

Photos

Photos from activities, responses or events, with a short caption saying who, where and when.

Short video

A short clip on your phone telling your story or showing your team at work.

Voice note

Prefer to talk? Record a voice note in Dhivehi or English.

Not sure where to start?

These questions can help you begin.

1. What happened, and where?
2. What did you do, or what did MRC do with you?
3. What changed for you or for others?
4. What would you tell someone thinking of joining MRC?

WHO CAN SHARE

Everyone has a story worth sharing

Volunteers & members

A response or activity you took part in, why you joined, or a moment that stayed with you.

People we support

Support received during an emergency, a training that helped you act, or a service that made a difference.

Partners & supporters

Working alongside MRC, a shared project, or a moment of collaboration.

Past volunteers & staff

Memories, photos and documents from MRC's journey since 2009.

Someone you know

Know a volunteer, member or staff member who has inspired you? Tell us their story and help us recognise their contribution. Please let them know you are sharing it.

HOW IT WORKS

Three simple steps

01

Share

Use the link on the MRC website or in the MRC Hub app, or scan the QR code. Add your story and photos, and choose how you are happy for them to be used.

02

We review

You receive a confirmation that your story has arrived. Our team reads every submission and checks your consent choices.

03

We feature

With your agreement, we share selected stories on our channels and reports. Every consented story is kept in the MRC archive.

Prefer not to use a digital form? Visit your nearest MRC Unit and our team will help you share your story.

YOUR STORY, YOUR CHOICE

We treat every story with care

You decide how your story is used: on our channels, in our reports, in the archive only, or without your name. You can withdraw it at any time. Please share photos only of people who have agreed to be shown, with a parent or guardian's consent for anyone under 18. We publish only content that respects everyone's dignity, safety and privacy, and your information is stored securely and seen only by authorised MRC staff.

Have a concern or feedback about our services? My Red Crescent Story is for sharing experiences. To raise a concern, make a suggestion or file a complaint, please use MRC's feedback channel or the Complaints and Appeals Mechanism, available on our website.

Share your story today

Tell us about your moment with the Maldivian Red Crescent, or about someone whose service has made a difference. It only takes a few minutes, and you decide how your story is used. Volunteers can also share through the MRC Hub app.
